

LARRY JOHNSON

How Honest Are You? Answer Key

Directions: Assign a point value to each question you answered in the quiz. Add up your points and see how you scored.

- |    |                            |     |                            |
|----|----------------------------|-----|----------------------------|
| 1. | a. = 1b. = 3c. = 2 | 6.  | a. = 1b. = 3c. = 2 |
| 2. | a. = 3b. = 2c. = 1 | 7.  | a. = 1b. = 3c. = 2 |
| 3. | a. = 2b. = 1c. = 3 | 8.  | a. = 1b. = 2c. = 3 |
| 4. | a. = 3b. = 2c. = 1 | 9.  | a. = 1b. = 3c. = 2 |
| 5. | a. = 3b. = 2c. = 1 | 10. | a. = 2b. = 1c. = 3 |

Score 26– 30

You are honest to a fault. You tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth, but you probably offend people needlessly and make more enemies than you need. On the other hand, what you say is what you mean, and you can be trusted to call it like you see it.

Score 21-25

You moderate the truth with a bit of tact. You're not afraid to tell it like it is, but you're also willing to tell white lies if the situation calls for it and it doesn't sacrifice your values or compromise your integrity.

Score 16-20

You tell the truth when you have to, even when it's somewhat painful to do so, but you also hesitate to be candid when you should be bolder. It's likely that you have some trouble telling people what you think if doing so could cost you emotionally, socially, politically, or career wise.

Score 10-15

You need to suck it up and tell the truth when it's important for the truth to be told. Your deceptions will eventually catch up with you and the pain you avoided by lying today will be ten-fold worse when you have to own up to your falsehoods.